RESTAURATEUR • 1996 USD ALUMNUS • PHILANTHROPIST

James Brennan ’96, founder of Enlightened Hospitality Group, has received national recognition for his success as a restaurateur and nightclub owner. A Torero through and through, James’ success is defined by entrepreneurship, innovation and philanthropy. In addition to starting his own hospitality management groups, opening award-winning establishments and garnering national attention for his wide range of businesses, James coined the innovative concept known as “The Fabric of Social Dining.” He continues to find success in the hospitality and lifestyle industries and uses this success to give back to his community locally, globally, and here at his alma mater — the University of San Diego.

“For me, a Changemaker is someone who rises to the occasion when they see someone who needs help, to make an impact on the people or the world around them.

I’ve been helping in the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy. I grew up in Rockaway, N.Y., and it’s a special place. The morning the tide came, the water rose, but never receded. We knew it was going to be bad. When I got there, the initial shock was brutal. I had to pull over in my rental car and compose myself, but I was there with one mission. I had raised about $2 million to help families get back into their homes and it’s been the best job I’ve had in my life. We got about 70 families back into their homes before Christmas and the numbers are still climbing. We gave them the basics — a new electrical panel, a new hot water heater and a new boiler. It seems like every time we run out of money an angel drops a check on our doorstep so we keep going. As long as I can, I’ll keep going.”
