

Scott Marshall is Associate Dean for Graduate Programs and Research at the School of Business, Portland State University. Dr. Marshall currently teaches Global Business, Society and Ecology in the Master of International Management program, Managing Sustainable Enterprise in the MBA+ program and Sustainable Enterprise in the Oregon Executive MBA program. He also co-teaches the Executing Strategic Initiatives course in the University of San Diego's Master of Science in Executive Leadership program. Past teaching responsibilities include strategy and international business courses at the executive, graduate and undergraduate levels. His research is in the areas of proactive environmental strategy, corporate governance and sustainability reporting, and environmental and social multi-stakeholder initiatives.

Dr. Marshall has published in leading academic journals including Business Strategy & Environment, California Management Review, Journal of Business Ethics, Journal of Information Systems, Journal of International Business Studies, Journal of World Business and Organization & Environment. He has previous professional experience in the private, not-for-profit and government sectors.

- B.A., Business Economics, Willamette University, 1989
- M.A. International Affairs, George Washington University, 1993
- Ph.D. International Business Strategy, University of Oregon, 2000.

