

California Association of REALTORS® Scholarship Foundation Awards Scholarships to 13 College Students

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 7, 2006--The California Association of REALTORS(R) Scholarship Foundation recently awarded 13 scholarships to college students planning careers in real estate. The scholarships were awarded at the Association's board of directors meetings in Anaheim, Calif. in January.

"The C.A.R. Scholarship Foundation is just one way REALTORS(R) reach out to future professionals in the real estate industry," said C.A.R. President Vince Malta. "These students have demonstrated a commitment to careers in real estate, and the scholarships assist them as they continue the training required to effectively meet the needs of homeowners in California."

The California Association of REALTORS(R) Scholarship Foundation was established in 1948. Scholarships are awarded three times annually, during C.A.R. board of directors meetings in January and June and at the annual California REALTOR(R) EXPO and business meetings held in the fall. Scholarship recipients are enrolled in two- to four-year colleges or universities in California, have completed a minimum of two real estate or real estate-related college-level courses, and are currently enrolled in at least one real estate or real estate-related course.
