

Bainbridge Capital

We're Hiring!

Do you have superb analytical and communication skills? An entrepreneurial spirit and intellectual curiosity? Are you willing to learn and ready to be challenged? We want to hear from you.

To submit your resume, please email recruiting@bainbridge.com and include M&A Analyst in the email subject line. Bainbridge is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

What We Do

Bainbridge Capital is a leading capital advisory firm serving top tier private equity firms and Fortune 1000 companies. Our clients are among some of the nation's most prestigious enterprises seeking to develop relationships with executives of leading businesses across multiple industries ranging from technology, healthcare, consumer products, financial services, industry, and professional services. Bainbridge's clients partner with middle market businesses by providing minority and majority equity investments. We help our clients identify these relationships through a proprietary engagement model utilizing both primary and secondary source research.

What You'll Do

M&A Analysts at Bainbridge Capital have the opportunity to interact in an energetic, entrepreneurial environment and still enjoy the stability of working at a consulting firm. Bainbridge Capital's wide array of clients invest across a variety of industries, from technology oriented industries such as e-business and software, to more established industries such as healthcare, finance, education, and consumer products.

Unlike other entry-level consulting positions, at Bainbridge Capital new M&A Analysts are assigned responsibility early on. During the first year, M&A Analysts will typically become experts in 10 to 15 different industries. While gaining industry expertise, M&A Analysts also have the opportunity to fine-tune their communication skills through daily contact with Private Equity and Mid-Market executives.

Unlimited Growth Potential

Bainbridge Capital recognizes the value of each employee and works hard to help each team member find their unique niche. With a culture of meritocracy and focus on professional development, we offer extensive opportunities for learning -- from rigorous in-house classes in fields such as M&A and marketing, to seminars at leading academic institutions and industry conferences -- training does not end after the six-month Bainbridge Analyst Training Program.

Build Your Network

By joining our team you are joining a network of seasoned professionals who will support you throughout your career. Bainbridge alumni have gone on to work for Investment Banks, Hedge Funds, and Fortune 1000 companies, as well as attend Top Ten MBA programs and even start their own businesses.

Customized Professional Development Plans

Bainbridge Capital offers extensive opportunity for on-the-job development through customized training plans. Since Bainbridge Capital is a growing company, you can make a real impact on the future of the firm and our clients. From working directly with the Partners of private equity firms to championing projects for Bainbridge Consulting - Bainbridge's strategy consulting partner company, you will gain invaluable experience to propel you on your career path.

Mentor Program

New employees are assigned a seasoned mentor for three to six months to ensure consistent, hands-on learning and guidance. This one-on-one interaction is tailored to your needs and helps to foster our team-oriented environment and ensure success on each client engagement.

Leadership Opportunities

M&A Analysts also have the opportunity to hone their leadership skills, whether by guiding a team of interns, participating in business development meetings, or heading up client teams.

Life at Bainbridge

Stemming from the dedicated practices of our management and employees, Bainbridge Capital permeates a culture of excellence and commitment to each of its employees and clients, illustrating why employees truly want to work here. Our team has fostered a sense of camaraderie through employee events, casual social gatherings and participation in local community service efforts.

"Bainbridge places a strong emphasis on professional development. In addition to training, which includes MBA level curriculum, Analysts attend various conferences and gain immediate exposure to some of the most respected professionals in the private equity community." - M&A Analyst
