

Since all of the financial aid administered by the USD Office of Financial Aid is limited to U.S. citizens and certain eligible non-citizens, this has been prepared to assist international students who seek outside resources to attend the University of San Diego.

The bibliography in this guide lists publications that the publishers have indicated provide information about student financial assistance without regard for citizenship. That is, a student is not required to be a U.S. citizen in order to apply for the available funds.

Identifying outside sources of financial assistance is a challenge. The search can be time consuming and frustrating. The persistent student who succeeds, however, is the first to proclaim that it is definitely worth the time and effort.

The key is to become informed as early as possible before you actually need the funding. This allows time for identifying viable sources, obtaining the required applications, and meeting the critical deadlines. Applying for outside resources of financial assistance is not something that can be done at the last minute. It requires early planning.

We hope you find this guide useful, and we wish you the best of luck in your search for outside resources of financial aid.
