

Two Churches, One Marriage

Author

Two Churches, One Marriage was written and developed by Lee Williams, Ph.D. Dr. Williams is an Associate Professor in the Marital and Family Therapy Program at the University of San Diego. He is also a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist in California, as well as a Clinical Member and Approved Supervisor in the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. In addition to his clinical work with couples and families, Dr. Williams has authored over 30 publications, many in the area of interchurch couples and premarital counseling. Click here for a select list of Dr. Williams' publications.

If you have further questions or feedback about the program, or would like to suggest additional resources, you may contact Dr. Lee Williams at:

University of San Diego
School of Education
5998 Alcalá Park
San Diego, CA 92110-2492
619-260-6889
williams@sandiego.edu

Dr. Williams cannot respond to specific questions regarding personal situations, appropriate diagnosis or treatment, or otherwise provide any clinical opinions. If you believe you might benefit from the services of a mental health professional, please refer to the Resources section, which includes a list of national organizations for mental health professionals in the United States. If you believe you need immediate assistance, please call your local emergency number or the mental health crisis hotline listed in your local phone book.

Acknowledgements

The original research upon which the program is based was conducted by the Center for Marriage and Family at Creighton University (Omaha, NE). Members of the research team included Michael Lawler, Barbara Markey, Lisa Riley, Gail Risch, and Lee Williams. Funding for the research was provided through the Lilly Endowment. The University of San Diego and Creighton University also provided financial and institutional support for the research.

Melissa Bausch, MA, provided considerable assistance in compiling supplemental resources for the program. Andrea Saltzman Martin constructed and helped design the website. The University of San Diego has provided generous financial and institutional support in developing the program and website.