

Patron Suggestion

October 6, 2006

Please consider offering free ear plugs for times when loud music events are held on the street in front of the University Center.

The loud bass beats and vocal music were completely uncondusive to studying for the 3½ hours from 6:30 to 10:00 P.M. tonight. The noise even extended to the California Room, floor 1, 1M, and 2.

Please do something. (The music was even off key.) Thank you for your help.

These events should be located closer to the Joan Kroc center and the Copley Library where undergrads are located anyway.

LRC Response

October 11, 2006

Welcome to Homecoming Weekend!

We actually do supply free ear plugs to assist patrons who may be disturbed by any ambient noise (keyboards clicking, papers rustling, people chewing, library carts, etc., etc.). We should have thought to put up signs alerting patrons to the homecoming festivities and suggesting the ear plug option. Thanks to your note, we will do so in the future.

I don't get your implication that it's okay to disturb undergraduates who are studying at Copley. I assume that was the frustration speaking!

Ruth Levor
Associate Director