PATRON SUGGESTION

September 15, 2008

I think you should prop doors open in the “out” direction as well as the “in” ones. The way it is now creates weird traffic because doors are heavy and people are lazy.

LIBRARY RESPONSE

September 16, 2008

Library personnel don’t actually prop the doors open. We prefer to keep them all closed to save on heating and cooling costs, but often patrons push the doors all the way open, and they remain that way.
