Patron Suggestion

September 13, 2005

There must be a way to keep the library quiet. Every day groups of students can be heard talking. It is so distracting.

LRC Response

We do our darnedest to maintain quiet in the study areas. We post signs. We instruct new students on library etiquette. We speak to talkers individually when we are working in study areas.

We do offer free ear plugs to library patrons. If you think this might be a solution for you, please stop by the Circulation Desk and request a pair.
