

University of San Diego

SCHOOL OF LAW

Pardee Legal Research Center

---

Patron Suggestion

Over the last 3 years, I've noticed people tend to use their cell phones in the restroom alcoves, thinking they can't be heard. With the wall covering down, it might be fairly easy to install a door for each alcove to end that problem.

LRC Response

August 7, 2007

The idea of doors on the alcoves is certainly worth consideration. The down side is that they would be additional barriers to patrons with disabilities. I am hoping that in the next round of improvements, we can get the existing restroom doors automated for those patrons. If we were to consider additional doors, I'd want those to be automated as well. In the meantime, we can try adding signage in those alcoves to remind patrons that they are not cell phone areas.

Ruth Levor
Associate Director