

California School Counseling Action Research Collaborative (CALARC)

The Action Research network for school counselors, counselor educators, researchers, and graduate students.

Call for Proposals

CAL ARC selects 2-3 projects annually for support, mentoring, and sponsorship. We are now seeking applicants for 2010-2011 academic year. Please submit the attached application form by June 1, 2010.

CAL ARC strengthens school counseling by:

- Sponsoring school counseling research projects
- Mentoring and building a network for researchers
- Fostering a statewide dialogue about school counseling research

The School Counseling Action Research Collaborative is a project of the California School Counseling Research Interest Network (CSCRIN), established in 2009 as a cooperative effort of the University of San Diego's Center for Student Support Systems (CS3) and the California Association of School Counselors' (CASC) Research Committee. CSCRIN's founding institutions include University of San Diego, CASC, University of Redlands, and Saint Mary's College of California.