15th Annual SCMI Spring Symposium Unlocking Value Through Circular Supply Chains

April 24, 2026

Kroc Institute for Peace & Justice, University of San Diego

What is the Spring Symposium?

The Supply Chain Management Institute's (SCMI) Spring Symposium is a stimulating and thought-provoking afternoon of keynote presentations, interactive workshops, and panel discussions by global organizations, in which industry experts and university faculty will share their views and experiences for understanding the challenges facing companies in today's global environment and enabling firms to adapt their supply chains to meet these evolving demands. The Symposium serves as an ideal venue for students, faculty, and industry partners alike to learn what supply chain leaders are doing to solve critical-to-success problems. There is also ample time provided for valuable networking with other attendees.

Who will be in attendance?

- Practitioners from senior levels of supply chain management and related fields
- Researchers, instructors and students in supply chain management and related topics
- Others whose work or interests involve supply chain management

Why should my organization sponsor the Spring Symposium?

There are primarily two reasons:

- 1) Sponsorship dollars support students, who attend for free. For every $1,000 in sponsorship contributions, we are able to invite four students.
- 2) Sponsorships also provide unique visibility for your company to collaborate with a leading university in the supply chain world. The Spring Symposium typically attracts 100 to 150 leading and upcoming supply chain practitioners and thinkers, from more than 50 companies, making this a dynamic and educational event for those who attend.

How can I sponsor the Spring Symposium?
