

The Department of Ethnic Studies Invites You To:

The 9th Annual
Dr. Eugene M. Labovitz
Lecture

Winona LaDuke

Building Sustainability: Economics for the 7th Generation

Monday, October 17, 2011

6:30pm-8:00pm

IPJ Theater, University of San Diego

Workshop: Indian Culture and Rural Development

Monday, October 17, 2011

2:30pm-4:00pm

Salomon Hall

Winona LaDuke is an Anishinaabekwe (Ojibwe) activist, environmentalist, and writer. She is the author of six books and numerous editorials and essays. She is also the Executive Director of Honor the Earth and the White Earth Land Recovery Project, a former board member of Greenpeace USA, and the co-chair of the Indigenous Women's Network. In 1997, Ms. Magazine named her Woman of the Year. She is also a recipient of the Reebok Human Rights Award and an inductee into the National Women's Hall of Fame. In 1996 and 2000, she ran for Vice President of the United States on the Green Party ticket. She is the mother of three children and lives on the White Earth Reservation. This event is co-sponsored by the Social Issues Conference, the Center for Inclusion and Diversity, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Office of the Provost, ANICA, Residential Life, ESSO, and the Departments of Languages and Literatures, Sociology, and Leadership Studies. For more information, contact Ethnic Studies: ethnicstudies@sandiego.edu or 619.260.4132.