Arcia	Adriana	PhD	Faculty	Nursing, MSNC	Manchester, UK	Approx 7/26-8/1	Conference	16th International Congress in Nursing Informatics, NI2024 The purpose of travel is to make two scholarly presentations at NI2024, the premier international nursing informatics conference, held biennially. The first presentation will be part of a panel entitled "Mitigating Epistemic Injustice through Health Informatics and Data Science Innovations." The international slate of panelists will share and discuss a variety of informatics approaches to addressing testimonial and hermeneutic injustice in healthcare. The second presentation is a sole-author case study entitled "Incorporation of Generative AI in an Introductory Nursing Informatics Course." This topic is important because we must, as an international scientific community, begin forming consensus about acceptable/desirable and unacceptable uses of generative AI in both research and pedagogy.
Baillie	Caroline	PhD	Faculty	SMSE, Integrated Engineering	Gothenburg, Sweden	August 12-15 2024	Conference	ESJP (Engineering, social justice and peace) History workshop presentation. I would like to travel to Gothenburg Sweden to present a workshop at the annual Engineering social justice and peace conference ESJP 2024 which is hosted by Chalmers University.
Blaser	Rachel	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Psychological Sciences	Rotterdam, Netherlands	July 21-28, 2024	Conference Presentation	I have submitted a paper, "Performance on the Traveling Salesperson Problem: The role of perceptual cues and theories of intelligence" to the 2024 annual meeting of the Cognitive Science Society which will be meeting in Rotterdam this summer. This paper represents research conducted with a collaborator at Holy Cross College, as well as USD and Holy Cross undergraduate coauthors. Additionally, we are submitting a request to hire two positions in areas related to Cognition, so this will present an ideal networking and marketing opportunity to discuss USD with strong candidates in the field.
Buchmann	Amy	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Mathematics	Seoul, Republic of Korea	June 30 - July 5, 2024	Conference	Society for Mathematical Biology Annual Meeting & I am traveling to Seoul, Republic of Korea to attend the joint annual meeting of the Korean Society for Mathematical Biology and the Society for Mathematical Biology. I submitted a talk and will only be traveling if my talk is accepted.
Della Vedova	Joshua	PhD	Faculty	KSB, Finance	Helsinki & Vassa, Finland	July 1 - July 4	Conference and meetings	Liquidity and Price Impact at the 52 Week High I am submitting a proposal for funding to attend the 30th Annual MFS Conference in Finland, where I will present my paper, "Liquidity and Price Impact at the 52 Week High." This trip is essential for presenting my research internationally, accessing unique data from NASDAQ Helsinki through my connection with the Nordic Central Securities Depository (NCSD), and collaborating with Hanken University co-authors, including Professor Gonul Colak. My research, using exclusive data, provides crucial insights into the effects of household liquidity provision on stock market efficiency, contributing to our understanding of global market behaviors. This opportunity will not only aid in the development and submission of my current research papers but also enhance my research's international scope.
Ellis	Hugh	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Biology	Ny-Alesund, Svalbard, Norway	approx. June 15-July 15	Research	Why are Arctic Terns Leaving the Arctic? Arctic Terns are disappearing from many parts of the high arctic, their traditional breeding grounds. I have established that unlike other polar seabirds, Arctic Terns are not well adapted physiologically for the cold climate of an arctic summer. Global warming should be helpful to them, but it is not. I believe these birds exist in the arctic because of a rich supply of food, but that this food source is disappearing due to climate change. I want to identify the diet of Arctic Terns to determine if the nutritional value of their diet has diminished with a warming sea.
Farid	May	PhD	Faculty	KSPS	Istanbul & Adana, Turkey	July 5-25, 2024	Research	Project Title: International NGOs as Intermediaries in Greening the Belt and Road Initiative Purpose of Travel: To conduct fieldwork on Chinese energy projects in Turkey (one of three project sites), and how local civil society groups and international NGOs interact with local government and Chinese stakeholders to mitigate environmental impacts of these projects. This is an ongoing collaborative project with a co-author at the University of Hong Kong. We have conducted digital interviews and fieldwork over the past couple of years on this project, and the grant would enable us to carry out on-site fieldwork to complement our existing data and extend the scope of our study.

Getz	Laura	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Psychological Sciences	Rotterdam, the Netherlands	July 20-28	Cognitive Science Society Conference	I will be traveling to Rotterdam, the Netherlands to present at the Cognitive Science Society conference, which is an annual international interdisciplinary conference with a theme of understanding the "Dynamics of Cognition." As the Director of our new Cognitive Science minor at USD, attending this conference will not only allow me to represent USD as I present my research, but also to network with other Cognitive Science directors in an effort to increase opportunities for our minor.
Ingram	Rebecca	PhD	Faculty	CAS, LCL	Lisbon, Portugal; Santiago de Compostela, Spain	July 1–31, 2024	Conference in Lisbon; Conference in Santiago; Research	"El disfrutar y más allá." Gastrocracy, Gastronomy, and Spain's Foodscapes My proposal for this round of IOG funding involves attending and presenting my research at two academic conferences in July 2024, in addition to completing additional international research.
Karapetian	Farrah	MFA	Faculty	CAS, Art, Architecture and Art History	Kazakhstan	September 2024	Research and Residency	Photographing the cotton harvest
Kniazeva	Maria	PhD	Faculty	KSB, Marketing	Japan	September 20-October 5, 2024 (estimated)	Research	Project Title: "Pilgrimage: Spiritual Exploration as a (Hot) Global Product." Purpose of travel: to conduct a participant observation study by walking an ancient pilgrimage route, Kumano Koda, with a small group of other pilgrims.
Koenig	Biko	PhD	Staff	KSPS	Dublin, Ireland	Sept 25-29, 2024	Research workshop & giving a talk	"ELECT – Moral Agency in Election Campaigns" I am part of an international team of researchers running a multi-country, multi-method study of how political actors (citizens, media members, and political elites) understand ethical decision making in an increasingly polarized political environment. The purpose of this trip is an all-hands multi-day workshop to finalize our survey instruments and build our qualitative methods, hosted at University College Dublin. I will also give a public talk on my current work with the Kroc School.
Kull	Alexander	PhD	Faculty	KSB, Marketing	Lisbon, Portugal	July 2024	Conference	I request funding for attending and presenting at the International Conference on Business and Economics, which will be held July 24–25, 2024, in Lisbon, Portugal. The sole-authored paper I will present has high international relevance, as it studies how the geographical scope of a charitable cause (global vs. local) to which a brand donates in response to each consumer's purchase can affect consumer–brand relationships depending on the humanness of the cause.
Lord	Susan	PhD	Faculty	SMSE, Integrated Engineering	Lausanne, Switzerland	September 1-6, 2024	Conference	Title: "Sociotechnical Module Exploring Electric Vehicle Batteries in Circuits Class" Funding is requested to travel to the European Engineering Education (SEFI) conference https://sefi2024.eu/ in Lausanne, Switzerland, to present a paper on "Sociotechnical Module Exploring Electric Vehicle Batteries in Circuits Class." This paper is based on work done with Dr. Cynthia Finelli at the University of Michigan as part of an NSF-funded project "Collaborative Research: Integrating Sociotechnical Issues in Electrical Engineering Starting with Circuits." This topic fits very well with the theme of the conference "Educating Responsible Engineers". Note: papers are due April 8 with notification of acceptance by May 27, 2024. There is no abstract phase for this conference.

Maese	Marcelle	PhD	Faculty	CAS, English	Mexico City, Mexico	August 5-August 26, 2024	Research, Conference, and Editorial Work	Decolonial South-South Feminisms Conference, Research on Femicidio, and Editorial Work in Mexico City (August 5-August 26) The are three objectives for my travel to Mexico City. The first is to complete research for an article in preparation for Chicana/Latina Studies "Yo no vengo a disculparme: Femicidio and MeXicana Studies from Juárez to East Los Angeles to MMIW to Vanessa Guillén," where I ask readers to place thirty years of Chicana/Mexicana transborder organizing against gendered violence in relationship to Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women (MMIW). The second is to meet with the coeditors of an anthology tentatively titled "Borders and the Nation-State: South-South Feminist Reflections on India, Morocco, Juárez, and Xicana Internationalisms." Finally, I plan to present my research in progress on transnational organizing against femicidio. While the journal publication will provide a historical overview of thirty years of transborder organizing, my presentation at the conference will focus on the 2007 Mexican "General Law on Women's Access to a Life Free of Violence."
Medina	Julia	PhD	Faculty	CAS, LCL	Bluefields, Nicaragua and Tegucigalpa, Honduras	July 1- July 27	Research and Conference	Title: "The Anthropocene or the Capitlocene?: Reading Across Cultures in the Atlantic Coast of Nicaragua: The case of Indigenous Oral Tradition, Lizandro Chávez and June Beer" The purpose of this international travel is to do research in Nicaragua and to attend a conference in Honduras.
Meter	Alejandro	PhD	Faculty	CAS, LCL	Madrid and Gijón, Spain	July 6-17, 2024	New book presentation, photo projection, talks	Postcards from Confinement-Book presentation in Madrid and Photo projection and book presentation + discussion in Gijón, Spain during La Semana Negra de Gijón.
Monge	Rico	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Theology and Religious Studies	Belfast, Northern Ireland, United Kingdom	September 3-7, 2024	Conference and Paper Presentation	I wish to attend and am proposing a paper for the annual conference of the Anarchist Studies Network to be held this September at Ulster University Belfast. This academic network is a subgroup of the larger Political Studies Association based in the United Kingdom. The title of the conference is "Anarchism In/With/As/Beyond Conflict." Because my second planned monograph will focus on the connections between religion and spirituality with international liberatory movements informed by anarchist political thought, this conference is key to my project as it is a rare conference focused entirely on themes I am researching. It will also help me network with other scholars of anarchist political thought throughout the world.
Nevitt	Turner	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Philosophy	Lisbon, Portugal	October 5–12, 2024	Conference	I am applying for an IOG to travel to Portugal to present a new research paper tentatively titled "The Epistemology of Bonaventure's Proofs for God," at the 2024 meeting of the Society for the European History of Ideas (SEHI), co-organized by the Center for Philosophy and the Center for Classical Studies at the University of Lisbon, October 9–11, 2024. This year's SEHI conference theme is "750: Bonaventure and Aquinas," since 2024 marks the 750th anniversary of the death of these two medieval Doctors of the Church and major figures in the Catholic intellectual tradition. Presenting at the conference will be a wonderful opportunity for me to share my research, receive expert feedback from specialists in my field, and to strengthen existing and forge new professional relationships with scholars from around the world, while advancing USD's mission as a Catholic university abroad.
Niezen	Ronald	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Sociology	Kamloops, Canada	July 24 - 31	Research	The Origins and Legacy of Mass Burials at Indian Residential Schools in Canada. I plan to visit the site of the Kamloops Indian Residential School, which this year opened for researchers. This is school where in 2021 the remains of 215 were found buried. This follows upon some fifteen year of research I have conducted on Indian residential schools and the truth and reconciliation process implemented as part of a settlement agreement intended to address their aftermath.

Parkinson	Jennifer	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Anthropology	Kampala, Uganda	July 1 - Aug 1, 2024	Research	Furthering geological work to understand human evolution and environments at Nyabusosi, Albertine Rift Valley, Uganda This funding will allow me to continue archaeological work at Nyabusosi in the Albertine Rift Valley, Uganda. The goal of this research is to determine how changing environments over time affected the early stages of human evolution (approximately 4–1.5 million years ago). This funding will help support the next step in this project, which will include focused work on the geochronological framework at the site and application of a new dating method. This funding will also allow me to maintain my international research collaboration with colleagues from the Uganda Museum who participate in this project.
Repinecz	Martin	PhD	Faculty	CAS, LCL	Santiago de Compostela and Madrid, Spain	July 14-29, 2024	Conference and research	Title: "Romani Memory in Spain: Between National and Transnational" Purpose: I am requesting funding to travel to Spain for approximately 2 weeks in July 2024. I will present a paper at the ALCESXXI conference on my forthcoming book project, Volatile Whiteness: Race, Cinema and Europeanization in Spain, and will also conduct archival and interview work for an upcoming article on Romani memory in Spain.
Schmitz	Hans Peter	PhD	Faculty	SOLES, Leadership Studies	Eersel, NL & Antwerp, BE	July 9 to July 20, 2024	Conference and book writing retreat	Title: Leading and Managing Organizational Change among Transnational NGOs The purpose of travel is to present an accepted paper at the 16th International Conference of the International Society for Third Sector Research (ISTR) taking place July 16-19, 2024 in Antwerp, Belgium as well as participate in a two-day book retreat with two co-authors in Eersel, Netherlands between July 11 and 13. The book retreat has been scheduled to coincide with the conference and will cover the same topics as the ones presented at the conference. The author team will develop a second edition of a 2020 book titled 'Between Power and Irrelevance' (Oxford University Press). The conference presentation will focus on one specific new chapter developed for the book.
Stacie	Vos	PhD	Faculty	CAS, English	Oxford England	June 13-August 30, 2024	Seminar and Research	Are you Emma, Christina, or Gunhilda?: The Modern Enclosures of Female Medievalists 1901-1950 I am traveling to Oxford this summer as a Visiting Fellow at the Weston Library at Oxford University, where I will begin work on a book project on female medievalists from the 20th century. I will be visiting historical sites and archives in order to write a group biography on pioneering female scholars of the medieval period. I will also be presenting my research at the Centre for Gender, Identity and Subjectivity at St. John's College, Oxford.
Sun	Yi	PhD	Faculty	CAS, History	Hong Kong, China	September 1 - 22, 2024 (during my sabbatical)	Research	Project title (tentative): "Necessitated by Geopolitics: Hong Kong as the Cultural and Economic Conduit in Sino-American relations during the Cold War." This proposed travel is intended to conduct a collaborative research project with a colleague at the University of Hong Kong on the unique and intriguing role of Hong Kong in the intricate Sino-American relations during the Cold War and beyond. Dr. Yu Liu and I have collaborated successfully in the past on a different research project. With her contacts with individuals who had shaping influence on China's foreign policy during the Cold War and who now reside in Hong Kong as well as my own interview experience, I expect this project to yield significant results in the form of publications. This project also involves archival research at two institutions -- the University of Hong Kong and the City University of Hong Kong.
Tabet	Saundra	PhD	Faculty	SOLES, Counseling and Marital & Family Therapy	Athens, Greece	July 9-17, 2024	Seminar/Research	A Cross Cultural Audit of Clinical Supervision in Expat Helping Professionals The European Branch of the American Counseling Association (EB-ACA) will be holding their Annual Learning Institute and Conference in Athens, Greece from July 12-14th. Apart from attending the conference and presenting my research titled "A Cross Cultural Audit of Clinical Supervision in Emirati Helping Professionals" (subject to acceptance), I also intend to participate in the learning seminars that focus on international research in the counseling profession. This will not only expand upon my aforementioned pilot study but also facilitate global connections within my field and related disciplines to help further data collection with my study. Below is a description of the previously funded IOG research (2022) that will be presented and shared with supervisors outside of the UAE.

Tallie	T.J.	PhD	Faculty	CAS, History	Durban & Cape Town, South Africa	August 1-25, 2024	Research	"Conjugal States: Making Monogamy in Nineteenth-Century Settler Societies" This research trip will allow me to return to Durban and Cape Town, South Africa, research sites for necessary for a chapter in my current book project. I will visit essential archival spaces in both cities. In addition to spending time in South Africa for research purposes, this will also be an important and practical time to re-immense myself in the Zulu language, in which I am fluent. I occasionally teach an introductory Zulu language course at USD and it is essential to understanding my South African history course as well; spending a few weeks once again back in a sole-language immersion environment will allow me to do the necessary linguistic work to maintain fluency and build connections for a potential integrated summer team-taught class, which I have proposed with Suzanne Walther.
Tigard	Daniel	PhD	Faculty	CAS, Philosophy	Munich, Germany	July 23-29, 2024	Research	My current research project, entitled "Embedded Ethics in Theory and Practice", is being carried out in collaboration with my former colleagues in Munich, where I did my postdoctoral work. We deployed the "embedded ethics" approach in several technological projects at the Technical University of Munich, aiming essentially to infuse a focus on ethics and social responsibility into artificial intelligence (AI) and robotic innovations. The current goal, and the primary purpose of my travel, is to meet in-person with my colleagues to develop a new publication outlining a paradigmatic understanding of embedded ethics.
Tran	Phillip	PhD	Administrator	SOLES, Global Center	Tokyo, Japan	December 1-7, 2024	Research	Title: "Comparative U.S. and Japanese Leadership Perspectives" The purpose of the travel is to interview Japanese professors teaching leadership at various universities in Tokyo to gain an understanding of leadership from a Japanese perspective. In-person interviews allow for richer and more comprehensive data collection. Data will then be used to compare to leadership from a U.S. perspective for eventual development of a short-term leadership course.
Tu	Charles	PhD	Faculty	KSB, Real Estate	Taipei, Taiwan	July 16 - August 6, 2024	Research	The title of the project is "Investigating the Integration of Green Building Features in Real Estate Appraisal Practices in Taiwan." It is a collaboration with two professors in Taiwan. This summer, we plan to conduct interviews with key stakeholders, including appraisers, property owners and lenders, to understand their perspectives on the valuation of green buildings. I'll be in Taiwan for three weeks to work with my coauthors on interviews and data analysis.
Zhu	Phil	PhD	Faculty	KSB, Finance	Beijing & Shanghai, China	July 6 - 15, 2024	Conference and Research Seminar	Attend the 2024 China Financial Research Conference and the China International Conference in Finance in Beijing from July 6 to July 11, 2024. Give a research seminar presentation at Donghua University in Shanghai on July 15, 2024.
