Students will be able to:

Articulate and compare social scientific theories/concepts as appropriate to the course/discipline.

Evaluate the quality, objectivity, and credibility of evidence using theories, methods, or ways of thinking that define inquiry in a social science discipline.

State a conclusion that is a logical extrapolation from the inquiry process.

Apply the discipline-specific inquiry process to analyze a new set of events/fact patterns representing real-world problems or issues.