

New Faculty Orientation Eligibility

All tenure line faculty, diversity postdoctoral scholars, and full-time benefits-based faculty members on multiple (3+) year contracts are eligible to attend New Faculty Orientation (NFO) if they are new to the university. The Provost's office pays for associated costs for attendance for eligible tenure line and diversity postdoctoral scholars; academic units pay for eligible faculty on multiple year contracts to attend NFO. All faculty members, regardless of new or revised contract terms, are eligible to attend NFO one time only. Faculty members are eligible attend the 4-day August session, followed by the associated ongoing NFO sessions, during the academic year closest to the initial contract start date.
